TOKIO PARTY BACK OF BILL TO RESTRICT MILITARISTS

Kokuminto Wants Civilians To Head Army And Navy

RADICAL SCHEME

Ministers Now Answerable Direct To Throne

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 16.—The Kokuminto must again be given credit for taking the initiative in what is considered to be another national demand, and one which bears the closest relation to the demand for the cutting down of the Japanese Army. This demand is in the form of a resolution presented in the House of Representatives and memorialises the government to effect a reform in the system of official appointments so that it will be possible for civilians to hold the offices of Minister of the Army and the Navy.

At the present time these officials must be in the service of national defence and are possessed of the privilege of approaching the Throne on matters pertaining to their departments without first consulting the Prime Minister. According to the Kokuminto resolution the system of limiting these ministers to the ranks of Admirals and Generals is not in accord with present day ideas nor with the conception of a constitutional government based upon the principle of popular representation.

How this resolution will be received by the members of the Kenseikai and the Seiyukai remains to be seen, but in the opinion of some of those in a position to know, it is almost certain that neither party will oppose it. Mr. Ooka, of the Seiyukai, has already expressed before the House his objection to the special privilege of the War Minister and the head of the Navy Department, already alluded to. It was stated afterwards that this was his personal opinion but not that of his party as a whole, much less that of the present ministry. This denial on the part of the government, it is said, was for the purpose of avoiding unnecessary friction between the military and civilian officials, but it is patent to students of politics, closely following developments since the second Saionji Cabinet, that it is the concensus of opinion outside the military services to make civilians eligible for the portfolios of War Minister and Minister of the Navy as in the case of Great Britain and other countries.

The present limitation, as pointed out by Mr. Ooka, has proven to be a cause of suspicion and misrepresentation, subjecting Japan to the charge of being militaristic in her national policy. The effecting of this reform would be attended with no little difficulty. It directly concerns the constitution and requires the support of the Privy Council and there is no doubt that the militarists and their supporters would fight to the bitter end to frustrate the new movement.

The army reduction scheme is receiving national support and the calling for the abolition of the special privileges of the national defence ministers is also receiving wide support. Some point to the death of Prince Yamagata as marking the decline of power of the ultra-militaristic clique and as denoting a change in Japan's national administration so as to remove all suspicion and misrepresentation to which Japan has been subjected to abroad.

Right now the Universal Suffrage issue is occupying the popular fancy, but there is no doubt that when the excitement incidental to this question has died down, the reduction of the army and the ministerial issues will be taken up.

FORTNIGHTLY RUN IS PLANNED FOR EMPRESS LINERS

Enlarged Service Announced By Canadian Pacific Steamships

Entry into the Trans-Pacific service of the two new Empress ships, the Empress of Canada and the Empress of Australia, will give to the Canadian Pacific steamships a fortnightly service across the Pacific both ways and will provide service from Shanghai to Europe by way of Canada on a twenty-eight day basis, according to announcement just made by the local offices of the Canadian Pacific Steamships.

The new schedules entirely overlook the Empress of Japan and the Monteagle, and it is presumed that these two vessels will be withdrawn from the Trans-Pacific run when the two new liners get into service.

The new schedule just announced by the Canadian Pacific provides for connections at Quebec with the Atlantic liners of the Empress fleet such as will make possible new records for speedy travel to Europe by way of America.

The Empress of Russia, which leaves here Sunday, is scheduled to arrive at Vancouver March 13, and will connect at Quebec with the Metagama which sails March 24 and arrives at Southampton March 31.

The Empress of Canada will make its first trip from Shanghai June 3, arriving at Vancouver June 19, and connecting at Quebec with the Empress of Scotland on June 27.

The Empress of Australia leaves here on its first trip to America on August 26, arrives at Vancouver Sept. 11, and connects at Quebec with the Empress of Scotland which sails Sept. 19 and arrives at Southampton September 26.

French Deputies Peeved By Delay In Reparations

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Feb. 23.—Disappointment at Germany's default in indemnity payments on which France had counted to balance the forthcoming budget was freely voiced in the Chamber, in the course of a debate on a special vote of 13,500,000,000 francs subsequently chargeable to Germany. The Minister of Finance explained that the sum would have to be secured by means of fresh loans and regretted that Great Britain was more occupied with the resumption of trade than with reparations.

M. Poincare outlined the difficulties of seizing German securities held abroad owing to the involvement of neutral countries where the securities were placed. The vote was carried.

SIR ELLIS KADOORIE DEAD; END IS SUDDEN

Heart Failure Causes Death Of Prominent Philanthropist

MOURNED HERE

Did Much For Education In China Ports

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Feb. 24.—Sir Ellis Kadoorie died this morning, after a brief illness, from heart failure.

Sir Ellis Kadoorie was one of the best known residents of Hongkong and was almost equally well known all along the China coast, for his philanthropies and business activities extended from Canton to Shanghai and he was active in social and sporting circles in various of the China ports.

The flags of the Shanghai Club and Race Club, of which institutions he was a member, were floated at half-mast yesterday in consideration of his death and the Shanghai Stock Exchange, of which he was also a member, closed in respect to his memory.

Sir Ellis Kadoorie was 56 years of age and was unmarried. He was a brother of Mr. E. S. Kadoorie, of Shanghai, and was head of the firm of E. S. Kadoorie and Company, which has a branch here, though of recent years he had retired from active business connections and took active part only in Hongkong Hotels, Ltd., an enterprise in which he was a large stockholder.

DID MUCH FOR CHARITY

Sir Ellis was born in Bagdad on December 7, 1865 and came from there to Hongkong, where he amassed a fortune in a remarkably short time. His wealth he has expended with great generosity in innumerable charitable causes, the Ellis Kadoorie Public School for Chinese here being an example of the work which he has done. Educational works were his particular hobby and he established during his life no less than six free schools in Shanghai, Canton and Hongkong. The school here was opened in 1902.

It was only on Thursday of this week that announcement was made of a letter of acknowledgment written to Sir Ellis by Mr. Brooke Smith, chairman of the Municipal Council, thanking him for an offer of half the amount necessary for the construction of a new assembly hall for the Ellis Kadoorie School here.

Sir Ellis was knighted in 1914 as a mark of appreciation for his philanthropic work.

He built the Helena May Institute in Hongkong, an institution corresponding in many respects to the Y.W.C.A. and named after the wife of Sir Henry May, who was governor of Hongkong at the time of the institution's dedication.

WAS RACING ENTHUSIAST

In racing circles Sir Ellis was a prominent figure, his ponies being entered in practically all of the Hongkong and Shanghai meetings. Two years ago ponies from his stables won both the Champions and Derby in Hongkong and they have scored many notable wins on the local track.

Details of the funeral arrangements are lacking in dispatches received thus far from the Colony.

NEED MORE FUNDS FOR FAMINE AID IN THIS PROVINCE

In response to the urgent appeal for help the Chinese Foreign Famine Relief Committee has granted an additional sum of approximately $200,000 for immediate relief in the provinces of Kiangsu and Anhui. Money is given to the Sub-Committees, which are mostly under the supervision of Catholic and Protestant missionaries, wherever food can still be bought in the nearby districts but more than half the sum will be sent in the form of food.

Very few are aware perhaps that very extensive areas in the districts of Yencheng, Taichow and Hwaian is still under water or otherwise unfit for immediate sowing. Thousands are starving and homeless, the reports show.

A feature of the executive meeting held yesterday was a move towards permanent prevention of floods in the form of a Hwai Valley Conservancy scheme. An endowment fund is to be created for the purpose of engaging expert workers to make a survey, investigate conditions and draw up a practicable scheme. This endowment fund is to be $100,000 to begin with. A resolution was passed to ask for the co-operation of the International Famine Relief Committee at Peking. In the meantime work is being provided for thousands of people along the Canal. Road making and embankment improvement are carried on wherever possible.

Those who desire to make contributions are asked to send them to the Chinese Foreign Famine Relief Committee, the Bank of China Building, 3 Hankow Road.

London, Feb. 24.—In the House of Lords today, replying to the Archbishop of Canterbury's appeal for a State contribution to the Russian Famine Relief, Earl Curzon said that he had requested the Chancellor of the Exechequer for a grant but had not succeeded, Sir Robert Horne reminding him that there were 2,000,000 unemployed in Great Britain.

Lord Emmott announced that Sir Benjamin Robertson, the Indian famine expert, was willing to give his services in organising relief.

London, Feb. 23.—In the course of a speech at Chortley Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, the Secretary of State for War, foreshadowed the reduction of the army by 33,000 officers and men, involving the disbandment of twenty-four battalions, infantry and forty seven batteries of artillery and the equivalent of five cavalry regiments and corresponding reductions of the higher staffs and auxiliary services, representing an economy of £16,500,000 as compared with the Geddes recommendation of £20,000,000.

Tokio, Feb. 16.—Many interesting reports are being circulated regarding the plans of the Japanese shipbuilders for meeting the situation created by the adoption of the naval limitations agreement. The Osaka Mainichi is responsible for the report that the Kawasaki Dockyards have sent representatives to Europe and America with the object of studying the electric locomotive industry. The Mitsui and the Mitsuibishi interests are said to be considering the taking up of the manufacture of seaplanes, while the Nigata Iron Works have already commenced the construction of Diesel Engines.

Iron tower construction is being considered by the Ishikawajima Works and the Osaka Iron Works. Hitherto this industry has been confined to America and Europe and, in view of its growing importance, the Japanese concerns have decided to enter the market with a local production.

London, Feb. 23.—The much discussed question of Lord Lee's alleged misquotation at the Washington Conference of an article by the French naval captain Castex on the subject of submarinism, semi-officially published in France, was brought up in the House of Commons today.

Mr. Balfour regretted that the article had not been permitted to fall into oblivion. He said that the Castex statement did not commit the French Government but it was impossible to ignore the views of a high officer who approved submarinism directed against the destroying without warning of merchantmen, with crews, passengers and cargoes. It was such operations, which Captain Castex proudly claimed to have been originally devised by French ingenuity, that the Governments of France, Italy, Japan, the United States and the British Empire at Washington unanimously declared to be grossly unmoral and pronounced the perpetrators liable to punishment as pirates.

Peking's Boy Emperor Leads A Dreary Life

By Elsie McCormick

Since visiting Peking, we have wondered who started the rumor that China reverences everything old. Certainly the Winter Palace, crumbling away like chalk behind its barrier of yellow-tiled walls, the Yellow Temple, turning to dust before the eyes of the chanting Lamas, or even the exquisite Temple of Heaven, with patches of weeds uprooting the blue tiles on its roof give little evidence that China is an unreserved adorer of the past.

We visited the Winter Palace yesterday, and we haven't come across such a depressing bit of scenery since we glimpsed the city of Rheims or the posting of the sweepstake numbers. Roofs without tiles, altars without gods, idols without heads, and state apartments not furnished by even a broken tea-cup are some of the features of the former imperial playground. About the only creature who could really have a good time there now would be Poe's Raven.

It is customary to begin the exploration of the Winter Palace by climbing to the top of the Coal Hill, so-called, it is said, because the Manchus used to cache a sufficiently large supply there to beat the coal trust in case of a siege. Apparently the coal is gone now and so are the three Buddhas who formerly kept watch on the summits of the hill. When we asked what had become of them we were told that the Japanese soldiers had taken them away during the quelling of the Boxer uprising.

FAVORITE ALIBI

This, it seems, is a favorite alibi. We discovered later that all the neglect and slow crumbling is attributed to the depredations of those busy little Japanese soldiers. They are blamed for the dirty faces of the Buddhas, the tipsy equilibrium of the lesser gods, and the occasional occurrence of ginger-pop bottles on the grounds of the palace.

Though Coal Hill is not of much interest in itself, it permits a glimpse into the Boy Emperor's backyard and a larger view of the Forbidden City as a whole. A golden ball mounted on a tall staff marks the residence of the young claimant to the Manchu throne. In a temple at the base of the hill, we saw the three chairs of state that carry the Manchu, Mongolian and Chinese teachers to the ex-Emperor's apartments every day. His foreign tutor comes in a motor-car, using a sedan chair only for a short distance across the courtyards. Two languages in the morning and two in the afternoon is the daily study schedule of the pseudo-ruler. Much of his remaining time is occupied in listening to the reports of his viceroys from the various provinces, who read vacuous documents of immense formality, massage the floor with their foreheads, and pretend generally that they are people of importance instead of mere tiresome old men about one jump ahead of the guardhouse.

We can hardly imagine a more boring life for a young boy than that led by the little Emperor. He is cloistered in a building, which, like the rest of the Forbidden City, is sadly out of repair, goes through a dreary play-acting with his subsidised courtiers every hour of the day, and strains his weak, near-sighted eyes on Romanised script and the intricate characters of China, Manchuria and Mongolia. The youthful scion of the once royal house probably envies to the bottom of his heart the foreign school boy with a patch on his trousers, a fish hook in his pants pocket, and a bag of marbles in his hand. Only a few days ago, the Boy Emperor won a long-contested point by issuing an Imperial edict which ordered a doctor of the Peking Union Medical College to fit him with glasses. Despite his painfully strained eyes, his legal mother would not allow him to have spectacles for the excellent reason that no previous Emperor had ever worn them.

FIRST AUTO RIDE

At the funeral of his real mother, which took place last November, the Boy Emperor had his first ride in an automobile. Even the bereavement couldn't quite dampen his delight, and now it is rumored around Peking that he is dickering for a car. With glasses and an automobile to

Crisis In Italian Cabinet Is Cause

POWERS NOTIFIED

French Press Ruffled By British Attitude

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 23.—Anglo-French relations have been somewhat clouded recently on account of the Genoa conference, the French press criticising the British Government's failure to reply to the French memorandum of February 5 requesting the postponement of the conference for three months and demanding a precise settlement of the agenda beforehand.

The announcement that a meeting has been arranged between Mr. Lloyd George and M. Poincare on the French coast on Saturday has relieved the tension and is heartily welcomed by the French press as likely to lead to an agreement on the political conditions of the conference, including respect for the peace treaties.

The French newspapers congratulate Dr. Benes, the Czecho-Slovak Premier, for acting as conciliator during his visits to Paris and London, and declare that Dr. Benes urged the Czecho-Slovak point of view that the maintenance of stability in Europe was dependent on complete Anglo-French agreement.

Rome, Feb. 24.—The Government has notified the Powers that the Genoa Conference will be postponed owing to the continuation of the ministerial crisis.

REPORT EFFORT TO REGAIN SHIPS SEIZED IN WAR

Report was current in Shanghai yesterday that negotiations were being carried on by the Chinese and German governments for the return of eight enemy ships seized in Shanghai following China's entry into the great war.

The report, however, was scouted by local Chinese officials and men in touch with German shipping enterprises. Mr. S. K. Chen, of the Bureau of Foreign Affairs, declared that he was certain the rumor was unfounded and that there was scarcely a possibility that China would give up the vessels taken over during the war.

A German shipping man also was strongly inclined to doubt that there was any chance of Germany securing the return of the prizes.

BRITISH AVIATORS SHOW HARDIHOOD BY CLIMBING FUJI

Mid-Winter Ascent Accompanied By Many Difficulties

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 18.—A feat that must certainly rank as one of the hardiest ever accomplished in Japan or for that matter anywhere else in the world is an ascent of Mt. Fuji in the middle of winter.

This was recently achieved by two members of the British Air Mission now engaged in training Japanese naval aviators at the Kasumigaura aerodrome, in Ibaraki prefecture.

The two climbers, who may certainly claim to have established a new mountain record in Japan, were Lieutenant-Commander T. Orde Lees and Mr. H. Crisp.

Lieutenant-Commander Orde Lees is the well-known parachute expert, with a record of eighty-one parachute drops from aeroplanes to his name, and a mountain climber with considerable experience in the Alps. He was also a member of the late Sir Ernest Shackleton's Antarctic expedition of 1914-16 when he had charge of the motor sledges.

Both he and Mr. Crisp were in the Daily Mail Handley-Page machine when it crashed at Carlisle while on its way with copies of the Daily Mail for delivery in Scotland.

Their great climb was made on the 11th, 12th and the early morning of the 13th of this month, the journey up and down the mountain including rests occupying exactly forty-eight hours.

The climbers started from Gotenba without guides, coolies, or horses, but had the assistance of two personal friends, Messrs. Adams and Earwaker, who helped them to haul their equipment packed on a small sledge (made from a crashed aeroplane) as far as a hut, 4,700 feet up where the first night was spent.

All through that night a violent storm raged, but a start could be made the next day, and the summit was reached at 7 p.m. on the twelfth.

At a height of 10,000 feet the climbers "cached" their entire equipment, cameras, spare clothing, thermos flasks, snowshoes and all their food. They then made the top of the mountain, (travelling as light as possible).

Unfortunately the descent was made in a dense fog, and the travellers were unable to locate their "cache" owing to the fog and the darkness and they had to return without any of their property.

In spite, however, of going without food for twelve hours, they say they arrived at Gotemba in splendid condition.

Discussing the trip, the mountaineers said the cold on the summit at night was not severe. The snow extended as far down as the 2,500 foot line. The last 4,000 feet of the climb was over solid ice and took them nine hours to accomplish.

A recording barograph was carried throughout the expedition, and affords indisputable proof of their feet.

Commander Orde Lees further stated that he and Mr. Crisp are going to repeat the climb almost immediately in order to recover their lost property.

Thursday's Recital

BY GERALD ZALSMAN

A great many admirers of Mrs. Isenman came Thursday night to the Chamber music concert to hear again her singing after the long while she has been away from Shanghai. With seven songs by Dvorak, she pleased her audience very much and the applause at the end of the cycle may prove to her how much her gifts are appreciated by Shanghai music-lovers.

The concert was opened with the piano quintet by Schumann, beautifully played by Messrs. Paci, Foa, Wegman, Gershgorn and Brunelli. This quintet will always keep its place in the first rank of musical masterpieces. It claims the highest admiration, not only because of its brilliant originality and its innate power, which seem to grow with every movement and at the end of the whole leave the hearer with a feeling of the possibility of never-ending increase, but also because of its beauty of sound and the well balanced relations between the pianoforte and the strings.

To conclude the beautiful evening, Maestro Paci played four piano pieces by Debussy with brilliancy and great musical feeling, winning great applause from the large audience.

Armed Robbers Hold Up Women

The daring highway robbery of four women in an alleyway off Yunnan Road, near Hankow Road, by armed men who secured several hundred dollars worth of jewelry from their victims was reported to the police early yesterday morning.

The women were returning home from a theater shortly after midnight when they were stopped and ordered to hand over their jewels. Diamond earrings and two diamond rings were roughly torn from the persons of two of the victims and the robbers fired one shot as an intimidating measure. No one was injured.

It is expected therefore that His Royal Highness will be in the capital at the Akasaka Palace for ten days instead of one week as originally intended.

STRIKER KILLS SHIPPING MAN IN HONGKONG

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Feb. 24.—A Cantonese, supposed to be a striker, discharged a revolver at Mr. Yeung Yak-tong, one of the acting managers of Jack A Tai's ship chandlery, while driving in a rickshaw near the Hongkong Club. Mr. Yeung was seriously injured and was taken to hospital.

The would-be assassin threw away his revolver and bolted, but he was caught near the Hongkong Bank. The revolver was recovered.

Later.—Mr. Yeung Yak-tong is dead. He had previously been warned not to engage seamen with the object of strike-breaking. His assassin had been a cook on the steamer Kwangchow.

A Portuguese youth, Francis Roza Pereira, was the first person to catch the escapeing murderer. Pereira knocked down and pinned to the ground his victim, who struggled violently in an attempt to escape.

The Special Constables have been recalled to duty, and more have been invited to enrol.

Reds Jubilant, Appeal To People

"The White bands are retreating in all directions before the People's Revolutionary Army, in whose possession now are the most important fortified points of the Whites. This decides the fate of the Whites on the Havarovsk front as through these points arms and supplies were delivered to the Whites from Vladivostok.

"Disorganisation is growing among the White troops; looting, drunkenness and sales of arms are continually taking place..

"One more vigorous effort will exterminate all the hirelings. The front calls upon the rear to unite in a common struggle for the motherland and for the revolution. The Military Council at the Amur front expresses its brotherly gratitude to the working people in the rear."

Russian Coastal Trade Increases

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 17.—The business export and import, of Hokkaido and Saghalien aggregated Yen 14,500,000 during the last half of the business year.

In his report to the members of the Hokkaido Development Bank at the Bankers Club yesterday Mr. Mizukoshi said that these figures represented an excess in exports of Yen. 700,000 and a decrease in imports of Yen 280,000, when compared with the figures for the corresponding term of the previous year. This, he claims is due to the growth of trade along the Russian coast, and the economic administration employed.

Before concluding Mr. Mizukoshi warned his auditors of the decline in the lumber trade, which he said was due principally to the maintenance of wartime quotations.

GLEN LINE GOES INTO NEW HOME ON THE BUND

Structure Just Completed To Be Opened To Public Next Tuesday

The new Glen Line building which has been erected at the corner of Peking Road and The Bund and which takes rank as one of Shanghai's proudest modern business buildings formally will be opened to the public next Tuesday. Invitations for the opening ceremonies which will take place between 11:30 o'clock in the morning and 1 o'clock have been issued.

The new Shanghai home of this pioneer shipping company in the Far East whose activities date back to 1874 faces the Public Garden and overlooks the Whangpoo. The length of the frontage on the two thoroughfares is 300 feet and the height to the roof of the new structure is 90 feet, and to the top of the flag mast surmounting the building 157 feet 3 inches. The company's Shanghai offices will be on the ground floor with the entrance in the center of the Bund frontage. The lighting of the offices is indirect from large bronze bowls that reflect from the ceiling. The upper floors are given over to general business and professional offices with main entrance to stairway and lifts from Peking Road

Tension Increasing As Northern Chiefs Make Military Plans

A great deal of rolling stock along the Peking-Mukden Railway has been seized by Tuchun Chang Tso-lin of Fengtien, according to the Dah Tong News Bureau, and forces of the 27th and 28th divisions have been mobilised but the objective of their movement is not known.

The third trip of Wang Chenping, mediator in the Fengtien-Chihli controversy, has availed nothing. He was not even received by Chang during his last visit to the Fengtien capital.

Chang Tso-lin has not signified his intention to accept the invitation of President Hsu to come up to Peking and the President is now seeking the assistance of General Pao Kwei-ching War Minister, to smooth down the wrath of the warlords, it is reported. Meanwhile, there is an apparent split between Wu Pei-fu and his former master, Tsao Kun. Wu objects to Tsao's conciliatory attitude towards Fengtien and proposes to form an alliance with the Yangtsze provinces to defy the Mukden chief.

Wu's request to march his troops through Honan territory however, has been definitely turned down by General Chao Heng-ti the Tuchun; and martial law has been declared in Kaifengfu. Wu's plans, it is declared, are to pour his forces through Kaifeng, along the Lunhai Railway and establish his sphere of influence along the Tientsin-Pukow Railway.

ASIA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY — EVERLASTING — MALAYAS — INCORPORATED

Protecting the Family

THE primary purpose of life insurance is the protection of the family. In the majority of cases the family depends largely or entirely for its subsistence upon the earnings of the family head. In surprisingly few cases, however, does his foresight adequately protect them against the uncertainty of the future.

LIFE insurance affords the only immediate and direct protection at an investment within the reach of even the most modest incomes. Failure by the family head thus to insure invites the payment of a heavy forfeit by those dearest to him.

cheer him, the little dweller in the Forbidden City will probably find that life still has its interests. All of which reminds us that the Living God of Urga, when he wearied of the perpetual kowtows, used to sneak away at the dead of night to play poker with the foreign residents.

Going back to the Winter Palace, from which we seem to have strayed quite a distance, we were met at the entrance by a Chinese soldier wearing a uniform that suggested a belted-in mattress. We were surprised that the Japanese troops weren't blamed for this atrocity as well. After being relieved of our passes, we climbed the long flights of steps to the dagoba, passing the artificial caves that the old Empress-Dowager found so comfortable on sultry summer days. A dagoba, we might explain, is a pagoda that was picked before it was ripe.

The oddly-shaped structure of the Winter Palace has a god established just in front of it, in a square house with grilled doors and numerous tile Buddhas around the outside walls. The glimpse we had indicated that the god is a gentleman of doubtful intentions, his necklace of human heads and his playful trick of planting a foot on the neck of luckless mortals bespeaking a cantankerous disposition. In the days of the Empire, Lamas used to gather there every morning to burn incense, chant prayers, and wonder what the cook was going to have for lunch.

MARBLE BRIDGES

The little house before the dagoba, a few beautifully curved marble bridges, and the gloriously colored porcelain screen of the nine dragons were about the only intact objects that we noted in the grounds of the Winter Palace. The rest of our way was through tottering gate-ways, over crumbling courtyards, and into disintegrating buildings.

A portrayal of the underworld erected by order of an emperor after a dream caused by too much plum pudding, or birds' nest soup or something, is a sad medley of headless figures and peeling rocks. In another temple the clay of the statues is worn off to the point of showing the straw underneath. These denuded idols stand around like shop window dummies before they have been dressed in the morning and seem singularly immodest. Meanwhile stray worshippers who view these undressed saints must feel as little Ethel does when the sawdust starts to run out of her doll.

So where, we ask you, is China's reverence for the symbols of her past? "Maskee. No man live here now," remarked a Chinese guide when asked why the buildings of the Winter Palace were being allowed to crumble away. America, presumably the adorer of everything new, is the most ardent worshipper of the old. It is in new countries that town councils build iron fences around old trees and apply public taxes to the restoration of old buildings. It is in China, oldest civilised country of the world today, that sentiment for ancient things is lacking and that even the most sacred and artistic of buildings are submitted to the practical test of utility.

"Maskee. No man live here now," sums it all up very completely.

WUHU'S MUD

(China Press Correspondence)

Wuhu, Feb. 21.—Several days of sunshine have not yet cleared the streets of mud. Visiting has been difficult. One Chinese woman could no longer refrain from seeing the New Year's presents displayed by her friend down the street, and started boldly out of her own front yard.

She could not pull either foot out of the sticky mass, and looked like a human fly wiggling to get loose from a large saucer of chocolate pudding. Two strong men came out from surrounding houses to her assistance and with much exertion got her back to her own front door. The visit was postponed!

IRISH SIGNERS ARR INVITED TO LONDON CONFAB

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 21.—Asked in the House of Commons whether the Government intended to proceed with the Irish Free State Bill in view of the Ard Feis decision, Mr. Winston Churchill said that the Irish signatories of the Treaty had been invited to London for an early conference on the whole situation.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain said that the Government did not propose to take the Irish Treaty Bill on Monday.

Asked whether the Government intended to proceed with the Bill at all, Mr. Chamberlain declined to make a further statement before seeing the signatories.

Mr. Churchill announced that with the concurrence of both Irish Governments, Justice McCardie had been appointed to conduct the enquiry into the Clones shooting affair. He hoped that the enquiry would begin early next week.

London, Feb. 23.—The bargain approved by the Ard Feis yesterday is regarded as indicating the numerous and formidable difficulties of the Provisional Government and is not healing the spirit in the Sinn Fein ranks, but is merely checking its development pending a decisive battle at the polls.

Mr. de Valera, by the postponement of an election, scored an important point, while Mr. Arthur Griffith and Mr. Michael Collins secured temporary freedom from danger of losing the vote of the Dail Eireann, where their majority is precarious, and also from the threats of mutinous sections of the Irish Republican Army.

The future is regarded both in Dublin and in London with misgiving, as the prolongation of the existing uncertainty may have disastrous consequences.

Banque's Head In Orient Is Arrested

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Feb. 23.—M. Pernotte General Manager of the Banque Industrielle de Chine, has been arrested and conveyed to the Sante Prison.

M. Pernotte was arrested in connection with a charge made by a Paris engineer to the Seine Tribunal regarding operations in which M. Pernotte was concerned in connection with the issue last year of the shares of the Chemical Products Company, the whole of which were taken up by the Banque Industrielle.

The shares at once rose 450 percent but the premium subsequently relapsed.

Paris, Feb. 23.—M. Jeanneney's report on the Banque Industrielle Bill estimates that 400,000,000 francs are still due to France as her share of the Boxer Indemnity.

He says that the basis of the Bill is that no engagement taken in the name of France should be disavowed once it has been considered valid abroad.

Conditions demanded for the future include the judicial examination of the constitution of the company, the suppression of privileges attaching to the founders' shares and the personal responsibility of the Director of the Bank.

BODY TO ENQUIRE

Paris, Feb. 24.—M. Jeanneney's report on the Banque Industrielle de Chine shows that the banks forming the Consortium have advanced 244,000,000 francs for the reflotation of the Bank up to April 25, 1921, receiving pledges to the value of 145,000,000 francs.

Three members of the Chamber of Deputies have requested the appointment of a commission of 33 members, to enquire into the responsibility in connection with the failure of the Bank.

WAS FORMERLY HERE

M. Pernotte, formerly general manager of the Banque Industrielle de Chine, who was arrested in Paris and is now in the Sante prison, was a well-known figure in social life in the French community in Shanghai. He was about 50 years old, a bachelor until about 4 years ago when he married an American actress.

He began his career in the Banque de l'Indo-Chine in France, coming to Shanghai for the first time in 1913. He was here for a short time when he returned to France where he was at the outbreak of the war. Soon after the beginning of hostilities he left the country, coming back to the Orient. He spent some time in the North and reappeared in Shanghai in 1916.

Praises Students For Efforts Toward Constitutional Rule

"In the fight for a constitutional government for China, the student class, as always has been the case in other movements as well, have been in the front lines of the battleground," declared Dr. C. T. Wang, speaking before the meeting of the Amerlian University Club held at the Union Club last evening.

"In the small group of less than a hundred Western returned students we find the neucleus around which rallied all the progressives forces which ultimately broke the Manchu yoke and re-established the Chinese authority."

In his address—"The Fight for a Constitutional Government"—which will be reproduced in full in tomorrow's issue, Dr. Wang discussed various of the leaders in the Chinese political field and ran through the history of Chinese political parties and factions in interesting and instructive vein, stressing the program of the Constitutionalist cause.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Perry and was well attended.

(Reuter's Service)

Johannesburg, Feb. 24.—A heavy explosion of dynamite on the main railway line near Doornfontein station resulted in a slight displacement of the line.

Fire Brigade Halts Threatening Blaze In M.B.K. Building

Just after 1:00 a.m. yesterday morning an outbreak of fire occurred at the M. B. K. building, at the corner of Szechuen and Foochow Roads, and had it not been for smart and effective work on the part of the Central Division of the Fire Department, it is likely that the fire would have had serious results. The kitchen on the top floor was found to be in flames and there were quantities of smoke issuing from this end of the building. The Turntable Escape was got up level with the window and a jet directed into the flames for two or three minutes; simultaneously a line of hose was taken up the front of the building and with the other covering stream the fire was held just as it was obtaining a grip on the passageway and adjoining rooms.

Naturally conditions at the head of the stairs were pretty severe, but in less than ten minutes from the time that the alarm was turned in the fire had been stopped and danger ended.

The outbreak originated in a small store room which was locked and up to the present the origin of the fire is unknown, but it appears to have been quite accidental. The staff of the M. B. K. on discovering the outbreak got lines of hose laid from the private hydrant and were just getting water on when the brigade arrived. The fire damage was confined to the kitchen, which had only just recently been repainted, and there was pratically no water damage to the floor below.

SCOTTOWE SOCCER CUP PLAY THIS AFTERNOON HAS TWO FINE MATCHES SCHEDULED

Recs-School And Police-Club Seconds Should Draw Football Crowds

The semi-finals for the Scottowe soccer cup this afternoon has two fine games scheduled—that between the Recs and the Public School, and the struggle between the Police and the Football Club 2nd. The first match will be played on the Police field, and the latter on the Recs grounds, both commencing at 3 p.m.

The School-Recs match will be a tightly fought contest. The School with its win over the Engineers in the first round, while the Recs were forced to play off a tie with the Xaviers, has acquired a considerable following for the semi-finals and are certain to play the fast Recs a game worth watching.

Considering that the Police beat the Football Club "A" team 4-0 in the first round of the Scottowe cup competition, they should not have any difficulty in winning over the Club "B" eleven.

That is how some soccer football fans are figuring the chances of the S. M. P. men tomorrow. And the players feel the same way about it. They declare that they are in better playing form now than they were a month ago, and that they will go to the finals with the winner of the Recs-School match without too much trying.

The Club 2nds, however, can turn out a good strong side, and may be depended upon to give the Police a football battle as good or better than their "A" clubmates did in the first round.

The only other friendly games on today is certain to furnish good interest, the match between the Engineers and the Navy on the the Polo Grounds commencing at 2:45 p.m.

S. F. C. "B"—Messrs. D. W. Leach, T. L. Rawsthorne, J. R. Weeks, G. F. Forshaw, J. B. Brown, S. H. MacMurray, G. E. De Man, A. Loonis, A. A. Ewing, A. F. Deer, W. E. Dalley, J. K. Ewing, J. G. E. Koning, E. T. Nash, E. A. Brodie, and D. Griffith.

The following will represent the "Recs": Wade J., Wilson T. W. R., Biggs, Smith B. H. Mears, Emamooden, Manley W. T., Evans, Brandt, Cooke, Sofoulis C. Reserves, Sofoulis, Ollerdessen.

Shanghai Public School: W. Brockett, G. Day, F. Weill, J. Mahon, P. Madar (Capt.), C. Siemssen, T. Madar, M. Moosa, D. Drake, J. Johansson, E. Cumine. Reserves: A. Jesu, Pringle.

American Oarsmen Plan For Approaching Season

Elect Officers; Hope Better Success Of 1921 By Hard Training

At the annual meeting of the American Division of the Shanghai Rowing Club held yesterday noon to discuss plans for the coming season, and for other regular business, Mr. E. S. J. Phillips was elected captain to succeed Mr. F. W. Schlobohm; Mr. B. A. Edwards was re-elected vice captain, and Mr. W. E. Sauer was re-appointed head coach, with Messrs. Horace Sayler and R. S. Haskell as associates on the coaching staff. The meeting was attended by some fifteen American oarsmen, most of whom were active on the water last year.

The points of chief interest discussed by the Americans were means to promote and maintain interest among the younger oarsmen, the introduction of honest-to-goodness roadwork in the training schedule, the calling of get-together meetings every two-weeks, and the holding of a full competition two weeks before regatta time, when crews may challenge each other with the idea of giving the coaches a final opportunity to consider the qualifications of all candidates for the big spring and fall meetings.

Mr. Schlobohm, who presided as chairman, reviewed last season's successes, and expressed the hope and belief that the Americans might do even better in 1922. He spoke of the excellent coaching methods which had been introduced a year ago, and voiced the belief that the benefits derived from carefully supervised training was responsible in large part for the Division's crews having taken their share of last year's events at Henli. He believed, he said, that with more time for training to acquire easy execution of correct rowing technique American crews might take rank with the best in the Far East.

Particular attention this year will be given to griffin oarsmen. In the early assignments to shells, the newer men will be placed with one or more of the older hands, with the idea of working up a large crew of competent men by regatta time. Mr. Schlobohm declared that there were no seats in the boats assigned: that the young candidate for a place had equal chance with the best of other years.

The competition just before regatta then was suggested by Mr. Neprud, and a hearty approval to the motion was given. The points in favor of the idea advanced by Mr. Neprud, were first to popularise the sport as a recreation among a larger group of men, and secondly to give the coaching staff final opportunities to select oarsmen for the regattas. It may even develop that several miniature regattas among American oarsmen may be held prior to the spring and fall water meets.

The road work idea was proposed by Mr. Edwards, in the way of hikes to Henli, 30 miles, several times before regattas. Some objections were offered however to giving up Saturday afternoons to hiking, when practice on the water would be of such vital importance. The motion was finally put that a walking program, including at least one hike to Henli would be arranged by Mr. Edwards.

Other business included the adoption of a proposal to have two separate "log books" kept on the Division's activities; that a full program of training be gotten up and mailed immediately to all members, and that a call for oarsmen and coxswains be issued.

Any American with rowing experience, or an inclination to try for a crew under expert coaching may send their names, with address, phone number, weight, experience and most suitable time available for training, to Mr. Phillips, care Murphy and Dana, No. 4, The Bund. It is expected now that the program will include two periods each rowing day, one at noon and another at 5 o'clock, with week end trials at Henli.

Asks Keinstatement

Buck Weaver, one of the White Sox players who was suspended from organised baseball last year because of charges made against them, alleging they threw the world series to the Cincinnati Reds, has appealed to Judge Kenesaw Landis for reinstatement. According to reports from Chicago, the Judge has taken the plea under advisement and will soon render a decision.

BEARCATS LOSE FIRST GAME OF SEASON TO STROKESIDE FIVE BY SCORE OF 32 TO 24

Post-Season Series Probable To Decide First Place Honors

The Bearcats basketball five, which went almost three months in the Foreign League without defeat, was beaten last night at the Rowing Club by the Strokeside, before the largest crowd that has ever yet attended a game in Shanghai. The score was 32-24. The Bearcats on their defeat lost not only their chance of establishing a record by finishing the season with a perfect score, but may have to play off a tie with the Rowing Club five at the end of the season, in a fight to keep from dropping to second position in the standings.

The game was the hardest fought basketball match ever seen in Shanghai. The Bearcats, weakened by the veteran Dr. Gray's absence from town, and Hirsh's being on the injured list since New Year's football match, made a desperate effort to win, and in spite of the Strokeside's early lead, and better all round game, they kept the result in doubt until the last few minutes of play.

Seven minutes before final time the Bearcats had a lead of one point at 23-22. Only a nice bit of strategy on Neprud's part saved the game for him. He relieved Johnson who was playing a strong game at forward, though a trifle winded, with a fresh man, Coulcher, who immediately rushed a pace under his net that the tired Cats could not cover. He scored five baskets in less than six minutes.

The Strokeside led off with the scoring. Johnson basketted two and Nash another before Irle's men got to working. Three beautiful long shots and a nice drop-in from under the basket by Irle got the Bearcats into the going. The Rowing club men then began to pile up a score.

Goldman, who had been shooting poorly steadied down, and the game went to half time with the score at Strokeside 16, Bearcats 12.

The play in the second half became desperate on both sides. The Bearcats' forwards were kept under close cover in their own field, and near the Rowing Club basket they were outdistanced by their opponents in spite of the best they could put up at guarding. They crept up in the score, however, on hard playing until Irle threw a basket from foul and followed soon after with a pretty basket from the field, giving his team a one point lead.

It was then that Neprud asked for time, and sent for Coulcher. The little breathing space while the teams were waiting for the change, served to make the last few minutes of play even faster. For several minutes after Johnson was out the play was nip and tuck, until Coulcher, fresh and strong, got going good. He scored five goals in six minutes taking his team out to a win by 8 points.

WHO GOT MONEY IS QUESTION PUT TO MIXED COURT

Concerning an embezzlement case related to the closing of the Ting Foong Bank now following its course through the Mixed Court, the singular question of whether the plaintiff or the defendant is the alleged embezzler presents the problem which the court sooner or later will have to solve. Following a hearing before Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Yui, the question as to who had absconded with $5,000, was discussed at length.

At a preceding hearing last Monday, the defendant's counsel brought counter charges against the complainant in the case, who is manager in the bank, accusing him of having taken the missing money. It was by reason of these charges that while the defendant was being held on bail of $500 the erstwhile bank manager likewise was put under bail of $5,000

Counsels engaged in the case are Mr. R. S. Haskell of Rodgers and Haskell for the complainants, and Mr. J. Em. Lemiere for the defendant, and Mr. J. G. Priestwood for an important creditor of the bank and Dr. Fischer for two stockholders.

team, but this will undoubtedly be forfeited to them. The Strokeside has one more match to play, against the American School on Monday. They should win this however, in spite of the high class of basketball that the light school team plays, leaving them tied for first honors with the Bearcats.

The season closes Tuesday, so it is likely that the two big teams will meet in a three or five-game post season series for the title. No plans have as yet been made for possible post-season play but it is probable that tentative arrangements will be made for the playoff immediately, for the Rowing Club gym will be filled with racing shells within a week, and the Strokeside players occupied in training for the Spring regatta at Henli.

The summary of last night's game follows:

CUSTOMS NOTIFICATION
No. 990.

Importation of Arms and Ammunition

With reference to Customs Notification No. 681 of 1st July, 1908,

4° Sporting Arms and Ammunition (c) providing that registers are to be kept by firms importing such goods, in which are to be entered in detail the numbers of sporting guns and ammunition imported, the names and addresses of the purchasers, the dates of delivery, and that these registers are to be open for Customs inspection when called for etc:—

Notice is hereby given that

1. The quantity of Gunpowder, Cartridges, Shells, Percussion Caps and Small Shot which may be imported by a respectable foreign firm at one time is now fixed as follows:—

Gunpowder	50 lbs
Cartridge Shells	25,000 pieces
Percussion Caps	25,000 „
Small Shot	2 piculs.

2. No fresh importations of the above mentioned articles, as well as of sporting shot-guns and made up cartridges, will be allowed before the previous importation made by the merchant concerned is disposed of.

Note. This is to be interpreted to mean that, while the stock in hand may at no time exceed the prescribed maximum, it may be replenished by supplementary importations to replace outgoings. For the purpose of checking such replacements, registers must be produced for Customs inspection on each occasion when permit to import is applied for.

3. If a merchant imports or keeps in stock both made up cartridges and component parts, the maximum quantity prescribed is for the aggregate.
4. All firms concerned are to hand to this office before the 15th March 1922 a written statement of Sporting Arms and Ammunition in stock and be prepared to produce for inspection by the office the register kept of sporting shot guns, cartridges and component parts imported and sold.

NOTICE

The registration of abbreviated addresses is a common practice in vogue in almost all the countries in the world. It affords facilities to the telegraphing public as well as to the telegraph service which otherwise would run the risk of misdelivering messages. There may be persons of one and the same name, in which case misdelivery of telegrams bearing that particular name only cannot be avoided and it is unjustifiable to hold the local telegraph office responsible for that.

In recent days we receive many compiaints from the public for misdelivery of telegrams. According to the result of our investigations, they are chiefly caused by the insufficiency of addresses.

The receivers of telegrams who have abbreviated telegraphic addresses are hereby requested to register such addresses at the local telegraph offices.

Telegrams the address of which consists of two names only (personal name of addressee and name of telegraph office) may not be delivered unless the address has been duly registered with the receiving telegraph office.

Before publishing the above notice in this column we have already posted it at the entrance of the local telegraph offices for the information of the public.

By order of the Director General of Telegraphs.

WOMAN JUSTICE ADVISES WIVES

Mrs. E. J. Smith Counsels More Interest In Work For Public

London, Jan. 14.—Modern young women are thoughtless and selfish and are oblivious to the cry for assistance being made even by their own brothers and sisters, according to Mrs. E. J. Smith, a Brighton justice of the peace, who says that she is both surprised and disappointed at her own sex.

She says that she reached this opinion chiefly through her police court experience, which impressed her with the "needless inequalities between the sexes." She says that inequalities disappear if women will only avail themselves of their lawful rights.

"A young single woman," she says, "seeks nothing higher than a continual round of pleasure, dances, theaters, chocolates, men and money. The young married woman seems to be content to be a mere chattel of the man she married instead of trying to raise herself to the splendor of womanhood. All too frequently the result is that she is cast off like an old shoe because her man has become tired of the monotony of cheerless home life."

She urges women to do public work and says they ought to sit as judges in divorce courts. "In divorce courts especially," says Mrs. Smith, "one finds spite, jealousy, malice and a thousand other pettinesses that make up the home woman's nature. A man cannot penetrate the cloak that hides all this. A woman could, and divorces would not be so frequent because she wouldn't be so easy. If women do public work they will become better sweethearts and wives."

Mrs. Smith has been in public life for fifteen years, and declares she does all her own housework.

Freight Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their freight market report of yesterday:

The position as regards the export trade from China to Europe and America remains the same though the recent decline in exchange tends to increase the hopes of an early revival.

TO U. K. AND CONTINENT

The Homeward Conference has recently reduced the rates on groundnuts with shells to 100/- and on groundnuts without shells and linseed to 50/- per ton of 20 cwt.

COASTWISE

The seamen's strike in Hongkong still drags on its weary way with little hope of the end in sight and there is no business being done in the South but traffic between Shanghai, Tientsin and Dairy is fairly active and we expect Newchwang to open about the second half of March.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

February 24, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each down ⅛d. in London yesterday. The New York price has declined to 64⅝ cents, and the London-New York cross rate has improved to 441⅝.

The only change in the official quotations here today was a rise in the Rupee rate to 252¼. The market at the opening was fairly steady, with sellers of Sterling at 3-2½ for February, 3-2⅝ for March and 3-2⅛ for April.

There were sellers of Gold Dollars at the opening at 71¼ for February, 70⅞ for March and 70½ for April.

During the day, however, banks became keen buyers with the result that rates eased off considerably, and the market closed weak with no sellers of Sterling at betternthen 3-2⅛ for February, 3-1⅞ for March and 3-1¾ for April. The best sellers of Gold Dollars at the close were offering only 70¼ for February, 70 for March and 69¾ for April.

China sold silver in London yesterday, and the market there is reported as being easy.

The New York market is weak, with good sellers and no buyers. The Rupee market seems to have more or less collapsed in India, Sterling in Bombay being quoted now at 1-3¼.

Tea Trade Ruined? Horne Skeptical

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 23.—The Chancellor of the Exchequer was faced today by a long question in the House of Commons by Mr. Walter Forrest implying that the differential tea duty ceased to have a value even from the point of view of revenue, and suggesting that the duty had gone far to ruin the China tea trade with Great Britain and thereby impeded the export of manufactured goods to China.

Mr. Forrest asked whether the Indian and Ceylon Tea Associations would have any objection to the removal of the differential rate.

Sir Robert Horne replied by quoting the revenue from China tea in the past three years, which was £221,000, £179,000 and £238,000 respectively. He declared that he was not informed regarding the ruinous effect of the duty nor regarding the attitude of the Associations mentioned.

"No Indemnity To Britain"—Horne

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 23.—In the House of Commons today at question-time, Sir Robert Horne, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, said that Great Britain had not yet received a penny as indemnity from Germany. On the other hand, the cost of occupation was over a 1,000,000,000 gold marks but had been repaid to the extent of 970,000,000.

French Union Ban Lifted For German Aid In Rebuilding

London, Jan. 10.—More and more is France proceeding on realist lines, remarks the Paris correspondent of The Westminster Gazette.

Even now, when there is so much perturbation about the eventual bankruptcy of Germany, steps are being taken not only to secure reparations in the shape of German material for the devastated regions, but also to secure German labor for the reconstruction of French villages.

The eleven villages which have been chosen for this experiment are in the Department of the Somme, between Peronne and Chaulnes. It is proposed to bring into these districts, which are now, after three years, scenes of desolation, a number of efficient German workmen.

As long ago as March of this year M. Poincare, in an interview with the writer, envisaged the possibility of employing German labor to a limited extent and in special areas. The French trade unions not only do not oppose the presence of German workers, but have been among the foremost advocates of the scheme. In this they have acted in association with the German trade unionists.

Apparently the objections have been hard to overcome, but they no longer exist. If nothing intervenes to make the present plans impossible, the problem of reparations will certainly be carried another stage further. M. Loucheur, the Minister for the Liberated Regions, who inaugurated this practical policy, was the author of the Wiesbaden accord, which showed how France could secure legitimate reparations from Germany if the Allies would recognise her right to special treatment. He now shows how Germany can help to rebuild the north—not by delivering worthless scraps of paper to a commission, but by laying brick upon brick. This should have been seen three years ago.

Unless German workmen are brought in many parts of the north will long be more or less uninhabitable. There is practically no unemployment problem in France, and, at any rate, the class of worker which is required is not available in the country. France has always depended upon a proportion of foreign labor. Her low birth-rate is in some sense neutralised by her capacity of absorption. It is estimated that at least 100,000 skilled workers are needed from abroad in these regions.

The Germans would be strictly supervised on their entry into and on their exit from France. They would not be allowed to move from district to district. Diseased and criminal persons would be refused. Agitators and disturbers of the peace would be expelled. It only remains to be seen whether the French populations would welcome these Germans.

I see no signs of opposition on the part of French manufacturers and contractors. The newspapers and the individual publicists who raised sentimental, political or economic objections are now silent. It is realised that such reparation as will be forthcoming must be of a practical kind.

At Paris a number of conferences have been held under government auspices, and it may now be taken as a certainty—always assuming that there will be no collapse of German governmental institutions—that the Wiesbaden accords relating to materiel will at an early date be supplemented by other accords relating to labor.

Italian Crisis Still Unsolved

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Feb. 23.—The Journal des Debats states that after a crisis lasting twenty-three days the Italian situation is still unchanged. The King has made abortive attempts to solve the problem by applying to Signori Giolitti, Orlando and Denicola.

The question of the dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies is said to have been considered, but both the King and Signor Giolitti are stated to be opposed to this measure.

Signor Faccia, former Minister, has been entrusted by the King with the formation of a new Cabinet, but he has not yet replied.

To Willingly Agree To Split Infinitive

Sir Sydney Russell-Wells Is Ready To Accept It; Likes Chinese

London, Jan. 14.—"Split that infinitive if you want to," Sir Sydney Russell-Wells told the Modern Language Association at Cambridge in speaking of this bogey to most writers. The majority of people, he said, used it daily in their talk, but most people feared to employ it in writing because the pundits had pronounced the fiat: "Thou shalt not split infinities."

He added that no logical reason had ever been advanced for banning it and said that it had been employed by celebrated writers in every century, including Pepys, De Foe, Dr. Johnson, Coleridge, Lamb, Wordsworth, De Quincey, Ruskin and Browning.

Sir Sydney said that modern languages were the highest development of human speech and were superior to the classic tongue. He said that Chinese saved the most labor and was the most practical instrument of thought, and that next to Chinese came English.

"U. S. Navy And Merchant Marine Surrendered"

BY JOSEPHUS DANIELS

Former Secretary of the American Navy.

IT is the morning after with the Washington Conference.

The feast and the music and the hurrah are over. "Its lights are out; its garlands fled." Of the more than five hundred writers who hailed it as "the dawn of a new era," all except a handful, with that tired feeling of the morning after a great event, have packed their valises and sought fields where the grain is green and not brown and seared.

The news that comes from the Conference (nameless here forevermore) is as dull and lifeless as a last year's bird's nest.

Do you remember how in the early days of December we hung upon the words of the big men (or were some of them little men in big positions?) as they pointed the way to World Peace through the promised effective disarmament and the settlement of the Far East disturbing problems?

When Secretary Hughes, with dramatic surroundings, departed from conventional methods of diplomacy and in the opening session stated in detail the now celebrated 5-5-3 dreadnought program, the gathering in Continental Hall was moved as by some old-time religious fervor. The long-deferred hope for world stability seemed on the threshold of realisation.

Men of all creeds hailed Mr. Hughes with enthusiasm almost as great as they hailed Wilson after the armistice.

Now—how is it?

If you are looking for a drab place in Washington, go to Continental Hall, talk to the erstwhile hopeful delegates, ask the man in the street what is being done to safeguard the peace of the world. I walked around it and sat in it in the vain hope of hearing some echo of the early words of exaltation.

You will find that the enthusiasm has oozed, the confidence has faded like a summer flower under the sun, and faith in a warless world finds no undergirding from what has been achieved by the conference.

To be sure the pomp and splendor are still there. The diplomats and delegates, Oriental and European, wear the same bright colors and our own delegates try to put on a happy and debonair air of cheerful reception.

The audiences in the few and far apart public perfunctory gatherings come with an air of ennui in the rather hopeless expectation that they may hear something new or something that will lift the Conference out of the dumps. But the spirit has gone from the body. It is of clay, without the glory and gleam when Faith made it sentient and strong.

To be sure, it has not been void of accomplishment. The taxpayers will save two hundred million dollars by not building the dreadnoughts and battle cruisers authorised. That is something to be thankful for. But what did we resign for this saving of money?

We surrendered the primacy of the American Navy and our growing merchant marine on the seas which would have come to us upon the completion of the ships under construction. They are now to be scrapped unless the British desire to keep them for harbor service preserves them.

Preserving these old ships in any way would defeat the first article of the Hughes magnificent gesture. And more: We agreed not to strengthen our bases at Hawaii, the Philippines and at Guam, which makes almost impossible our naval strength in the Far East if there should come need of it to keep the Open Door in China or serve humanity or promote our own interests in the Pacific.

The sacrifice of naval bases and national naval supremacy will have been more than compensated for if there is assurance of world peace in the agreements by the Washington Conference. But except as to dreadnoughts, which many no longer regard as the backbone of the fleet, what has been done?

Great lawyer that he is, when he announced the 5-5-3 dreadnaught ratio for the three great navy nations, everybody hailed it with applause. The dissenting voices were drowned in a chorus of approval. It was the first dash for disarmament and was made with the vigor of the cavalry charging against the ramparts of the foe. The people thought it was really the cavalry charge which would make way for the infantry and all the other implements of war.

After the first magnificent gesture in the eyes of all the world, the American delegates to this Conference made the same fatal blunder that the Americans at Paris made. They agreed to secret sessions and repudiated the doctrine of "open covenants openly arrived at," and with less excuse than it was acquiesced in at Paris.

There America was a guest and stood alone in wishing open sessions. Here our country was the host. It began by unconventionally and courageously discussing the big questions in the open. And then it fell into the diplomacy that aids duplicity.

Indeed, the words Diplomacy and Duplicity have so long been interchangeable that when secret sessions were agreed upon half the world felt that the hope of helping real world peace gave place to swapping and trading, balances and ententes and alliances.

And what have the fruits been?

Exactly what might have been expected.

Much is talked in inspired circles about what has been done.

Let us see what has NOT been done.

Nothing has been done to prevent the use of poison gas and the utilisation of chemicals in wholesale destruction.

Nothing has been done to reduce land forces, the only military agency that has brought wars on mankind and upheld tyrants.

Nothing has been done to guarantee the carrying out of even the slight gesture toward disarmament for which we all gave thanks.

I am not speaking of the lack of anything effective being done in the Pacific except that no naval bases shall be increased or enlarged in the Pacific. Japan and Great Britain already have adequate bases in those waters.

One object of the conference was to put an end to the British-Japanese alliance. When America first broached that subject, what answer did Lloyd George make? He said: "If the United States does not like the alliance, let it come in. The door is ajar."

We have walked in—that is, our delegates have—but they didn't think it worth while to inform President Harding how deep they had plunged into the "entangling alliance."

Mr. Hughes has made a bold plunge to "save the face" of the conference after the interminable conversations about China and its protection from concessionaires. Can he succeed? In Congress, where nothing real can be accomplished, they always "appoint a commission" as a better sounding burial than the word morgue.

Mr. Hughes, sincerely desiring to get some tangible guarantees in the future which apparently cannot be extorted now, proposes this test: That the United States, Great Britain, France, Japan, Italy, Belgium, Portugal and the Netherlands will "not seek spheres of influence in China nor secure concessions or monopolies which would abridge the principle of economic and commercial opportunity."

Inasmuch as most of these nations already have these concessions, and hold Chinese posterity by the throat, their promise "not to seek concessions" wouldn't trouble them much.

But Mr. Hughes goes further. He wishes an International Board "to examine both existing and future concessions." Why not have them proclaimed in the open now? The State Department knows what they are and how they strangle China.

But I guess Mr. Hughes is unable, as Mr. Wilson was in Paris, to force any immediate agreement as to the open door in China, and is hoping to pry open a little entrance so as later to fling the door wide open. That is a very short step from what was expected, but if properly pressed by this country may eventually bear fruit.

We are now committed—so far as the Washington Administration can commit us—to an entangling alliance with three nations which have the closest interlocking directorates. But if the peace and prosperity of the world can be guaranteed by it, and China saved from exploitation, it is well to take some steps which may be contrary to what George Washington advised.

LET HIM READ

Although those Lloyd George breakfasts at Downing Street may be making history, the average person is not a conversationalist at the meal which breaks the night's fast.

The sparkling epigrams of dinner time might not be out of place at breakfast, but they are never heard.

Mr. Average Man likes to eat his eggs and bacon without bothering to talk brilliantly. His newspaper gives him an excuse for silence.

But should he read at breakfast? A bachelor need not consider the question. It is the married man who gets hauled over the coals for sticking up his paper shield.

"It's so unsociable," says his wife and she has an idea that by reading at a meal in her company her husband is failing in courtesy.

Is he?

She wouldn't so much mind if he'd read out tit-bits of news, but he doesn't. Perhaps she forgets that to talk and eat are two operations that cannot be carried through together, and that Mr. Average Man hasn't any too much time to spend over the first meal of the day. She is also inclined to forget that the conversation she misses is hardly worth mentioning

* * *

Many a vitriolic word has not been spoken, thanks to the morning paper and wise wives never insist on talk at the breakfast table.

In silence there is often wisdom.

Both men and women are usually better left alone early in the day for so many people nowadays suffer from imperfect digestions.

Many women argue that reading at meals is unwise. They will tell you that brain and stomach cannot work together, and feel sure that by reading at meals a man is spoiling his digestion.

There might be sense in the argument, were a man to study a law book over his sausages and take another learned tome with the marmalade. Study at meals would be unwise, but reading the newspaper is another matter.

The modern newspaper is arranged to appeal to the eye. A picture tells a story, a paragraph tells one how the world wags. By a glance at the headlines a man knows what is happening, and by running his eye over the news-sheet as he takes his first meal he has a good idea of what has happened in the world outside the four walls of home.

He is primed to meet other men. His digestion is not interfered with in the least by the up-to-date newspaper. And, by getting lost in the news, a man can forget the cut he got in shaving, or the fact that his collar-stud played pranks.

Many little things irritate in the morning, but the paper can take one's mind off them.

So, ladies, let him read, even if he does pass you the advertisement part.

Cleveland Adopts "City Manager" Government Plan

(Chung Mei Service)

New York, Jan. 7.—The potential development as well as the present progress of the city-manager plan in the United States is well indicated by the fact that Cleveland, an important industrial city of 800,000 inhabitants has recently voted to establish it, the plan to take effect in two years. This is the first large city in the United States to abandon the old political executive type of government in favor of a non-political administrative head.

Under the new plan, which is described by the Secretary of the National Municipal League in the New York Evening Post, the Mayor becomes merely the titular and ceremonial head of the city, elected not by the people but by the City Council. The business chief of the city will be the city manager, also chosen by the Council, in the words of the charter amendment, "solely on the basis of his executive and administrative qualifications." When appointed he need not be a resident of the city or state.

And to guard further against appointment for political considerations, the charter provides that no member of the City Council can be chosen as manager. This manager is appointed for no definite term, and is removable at the pleasure of the Council. He thus becomes their administrative servant charged with the non-political management of the city's business and with power commensurate to this responsibility. He appoints and removes his subordinates. The work of the Council is confined to supervision of the city manager and to legislation. The Council cannot interfere directly with or dictate to the manager's subordinates. It must always deal through the manager, the idea being to concentrate on him full authority plus undisputed responsibility.

UPSETS TRADITION

It may thus be seen that the citizens of Cleveland has substituted for the old traditions of American city government the new ideal of a city whose business details are managed by full time, competent men, trained in the specialities and details of a big city's business. Cleveland intends to avail itself of men who make public service a profession and not an opportunity for political manoeuvring and gain. It will restrict the politically elected officials to their proper functions, namely, the determination of policy and general oversight over the administration. No longer will it undertake the impossible task of selecting by popular vote executive talent trained for the specialised conduct of the details of a city's business.

But there is more that must be told. At the same election Cleveland decided to abandon the time-hallowed system of electing Councilmen by wards in favor of election by proportional representation. The new council is to have twenty-five members elected from districts, five to nine from a district as may be decreed by ordinance. "P. R.," as this method of election is generally termed, although widely used abroad and recently employed in Ireland with marked success, has been adopted in only three or four American cities.

WHAT "P. R." MEANS

Briefly proportional representation repudiates the old ideas of representation of geographical districts only and substitutes representation according to opinion. By enlarging the election district and electing several representatives therefrom, the voter is enabled to indicate various choices for his representative. Although his ballot counts in the election of only one man, the voter is pretty sure that his ballot will count for one of his choices and will not be wasted. If his first choice has already been elected or hopelessly defeated his vote is transferred to his second choice, or if necessary, to his third, fourth etc., choices until it is counted effectively for one of the candidates he prefers. Proportional representation thus combines in one election both the primary and the election proper. No matter how many candidates appear the result is always to secure the election of those who actually represent the choice of the people.

Cleveland is much the largest city which has adopted manager government. Akron is the next largest, followed by Dayton, Grand Rapids and Nashville, the capital of the state of Tennessee. Approximately 260 cities and towns throughout the United States have city managers. Only one city having the thorough going system by charter law has given it up.

Peking Worries Over Tuan Now

(Chung Mei News Agency)

Peking, Feb. 20.—Despite recent optimistic reports to the contrary their is every reason to believe that the missions of General Wang Chen-ping and General Chang Ching-huei, both of whom have been emissaries to General Chang Tso-lin in an effort to bring about peaceful relations between the Mukden warlord and Wu Pei-fu, were unsuccessful and that the two parties are no nearer an agreement on the premiership.

Interest in the mysterious activities of Tuan Chi-jui is shown in both Chinese and foreign circles but nothing other than that he is still at Tientsin is known of him. Speculation is rife as to whether there is any connection between his departure from Peking and the reported impending movements of the troops of Chang Tso-lin. No troops have yet been moved according to all available information but the families of Fengtien soldiery here and at Nanyuen are said to be beginning to return to Mukden while the troops themselves are being put in readiness for their transfer.

If Chang Tso-lin with the financial backing of Liang Shih-yi should decide to put the former premier and Anfu leader, Tuan Chi-jui, back in power there seems to be little doubt that it would lead to open warfare with President Hsu and the Chihli Party arrayed against the Fengtien leaders. While the immediate prospect of such developments is very remote it forms a subject for speculation in political circles here.

Tuan Chi-jui is considered by many to be in the best position to bring about the unification of China. He has to a considerable extent the support of the people who remember his opposition to the monarchical plans of Yuan Shih-kai and forget his Anfu activities. Moreover, he has strength in the South and would be far more acceptable to Dr. Sun Yat-sen and his party than any other Northern leader.

BOTH AFTER DR. SUN

There is no doubt but that both Northern factions are negotiating with the South and an alliance between either of them and Dr. Sun would spell ruin for the other Northern party. The acceptability of Tuan gives Chang Tso-lin a strong card to play in his dealings with the South. Dr. Sun is reported to have said in conversation some time ago that he was not strong enough to unite all China under his leadership and that Tuan Chi-jui was the only man in the country who could accomplish such unification.

In the event of Spring seeing the development of actual hostility between the Fengtien and Chihli parties—a possibility that always lies back of the political situation—military strength would probably be with Chihli but the financial backing of Liang Shih-yi would give the Fengtien partisans an important advantage. It is estimated that President Hsu now has more troops in Peking and in a radius of one hundred miles about the city than any other leader. In any event Chang Tso-lin will not find it an easy task to restore Tuan Chi-jui and trouble seems inevitable if he should try to do so.

Many reasons have been given for Chang's reported orders to his troops to prepare to move. One rumor is hat the movement is merely for the review of Chinese troops in honor of General Joffre. Foreign observers would like to believe that he is withdrawing his forces into Manchuria to clean up his own territory and exterminate the bandits. It is pointed out that this is really the most patriotic thing he could do for warfare with Wu Pei-fu will do little toward solving China's problems and would even do little toward helping himself. Complete control of his own provinces and protection of the Chinese Eastern Railway would be definite steps in the right direction.

Correspondence

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir.—I was very glad to see your offer to the Shanghai children in your paper and am convinced that we will make the most of the opportunity.

Yet I think the boys are a little handicapped by your subjects. As "Gentle Opposition" mentioned not all adventurers are literary geniuses neither are all literary geniuses adventurers. Yet most of them have good imaginations which would defeat your hopes for fact stories.

Once more expressing my appreciation for your kind offer, I remain, Yours truly,

Volunteer Corps Notes

It is intended to utilise all Sunday mornings next month for preliminary training of officers and others armed with the Webley pistol in revolver shooting. A list of times and dates at which the officers, etc., of the various units will attend the Revolver Range for this purpose is being included in the printed Range Program for March. As it is probable that there is scarcely an individual in the Corps who has had any experience of shooting with the revolver according to the modern "Straight Lift" method, all who are required to fire with this weapon are recommended to make a careful study beforehand of the contents of the Webley Pistol Manual recently issued.

Enquiries are being made by the Council as to whether Marshal Joffre will be willing to do us the honor of inspecting the Corps during his approaching visit to Shanghai. If this important event comes off it is more than likely that it will occur on Saturday afternoon, March 11.

MACHINE GUN COMPANY

This week the Machine Gunners have little to report except a very successful Monthly Cup shoot on Sunday last, and a firing practice at 400 yards, which seemed to worry the local gentry in the Butts not a little.

The Football team are saving their wind for their match for the S. V. C. championship against the Scottish on Sunday week, and there is every prospect that this will be one of the best "soccer" events seen in Shanghai for some time, both teams having had great success hitherto and, on paper, being evenly matched. It is hoped that Sir Everard Fraser the donor of the Shield, will officiate by kicking off.

"B" COMPANY, BRITISH

The next weekly drill will take place on Tuesday 28th inst. at the Drill Hall at 5:45 p.m. in conjunction with the Shanghai Scottish Company and the British Infantry Reserves. As these combined drills give valuable opportunities for all ranks to learn something of Company drill, it is hoped that all will make a special effort to attend. Dress: Uniform. Those not yet in possession of uniform to attend in plain clothes. This will be one of the stated parades for Unit efficiency.

SHANGHAI SCOTTISH

The Company spent a very interesting hour and a half on Tuesday evening when they were instructed in street fighting. The tortuous roads of the Hongkew District were selected and it was very gratifying to note that the N.C.Os in charge of parties had excellent conception of their work, though a little criticism may be found with their topographical knowledge.

The Company will be out once a week until the end of the season and there seems to be a great desire on the part of the men to become efficient. The parade on Tuesday was one of the best the Company has had for some time.

It is with regret that several resignations have been accepted during the past few weeks, due to transfers and ill health, but recruits still roll in slowly.

FLAT WALL FINISH

A perfect Paint of smooth surface for Interior Wall Coating

The surface obtainable with this paint is smooth and flat, i.e., it is not a grainy, dead, lifeless finish, but of a velvety texture. It dries in a reasonably quick time, so that work can be carried out effectively, yet has the property of remaining open long enough to enable the worker to cover a large surface of wall without making laps or edges.

Excellent results with Super Durable Flat Finish are easily obtained, irrespective of the skill of the user, and an elaborate preparation of the surface is usually quite unnecessary.

Super Durable Flat Finish has been tried on non-absorbent surfaces of all kinds and where distemper and oil paint have proved prone to shell or flake off, it has always adhered. It gives a lasting finish of surprising beauty.

British Women's Association Notes

The following new members have joined the Association since last week: Mrs. A. A. Brady, Mrs. A. E. Blechyndon, Mrs. E. W. Day, and Mrs. F. A. McCann.

Any member not having received her circular announcing the annual general meeting to be held at the Lyceum Theater on Wednesday, March 15 at 5:15 p.m. is earnestly requested to communicate immediately with the Secretary at 9 Kiukiang Road. Owing to members omitting to notify change of address, notices of meetings, etc., frequently go astray and the present opportunity is taken to urge members to co-operate with the Committees and Secretariat by doing their share in facilitating the work of the Association.

GARDENING SECTION

The first meeting of the Spring season will take place on Friday, March 3, details of which will reach members of the Section through the post.

LITERARY SECTION

The next meeting of this Section will be held at 5:30 p.m. on March 14, when Mrs. Ayscough will speak on "T'ai Shan, the Peak of the East." Owing to the special interest attaching to this lecture and on account of arrangements for showing the lantern slides which are to illustrate it, the hall of the Royal Asiatic Society in Museum Road has been taken for the occasion.

SPORTS SECTION

The Committee of the Sports Section are still looking for two or three tennis courts in or near the Central district which they wish to hire for the ensuing season. All members of the Section are asked to do their best to obtain information in regard to such.

ART SECTION

Dr. Stafford Cox will give the concluding lecture of the admirable series to which the Section has listened on Thursday, March 2, when it is hoped that all members will make a point of being present. It is proposed at this meeting to make announcements in connection with the projected lecture and demonstration on "Color Printing" by Mr. A. G. R. Murphy, a well-known expert on the subject. Plans for regular out-door sketching meetings will also be put before the members. It is rumored that certain members would like to join this Section's Sketch Club, but feel that their knowledge of the subject hardly justifies their doing so. It may be here pointed out that beginners are very welcome and that one of the main objects in thus banding together is for mutual help and criticism.

NEEDLE CRAFT SECTION

A well attended inaugural meeting of this latest Section to be formed took place on Friday the 17th, when the following ladies were elected to form a Committee: chairman Mrs. C. G. King; hon treasurer Miss E. Dallas; hon secretary Mrs. O. E. Ryton; committee Mrs. C. G. Beale, Miss M. Dallas, Mrs. Henson and Mrs. Marples. The first working party will be held at headquarters on Monday, March 6 at 3 p.m.

SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE

Members of the Hospital Aid Department held their first working meeting on Tuesday last and turned out over one hundred bandages. It should be borne in mind that any B. W. A. member may join this League; that there is no subscription at all and that no obligations are laid down. The idea is to give as many women as possible an opportunity of lending a hand to medical missions in China, the needs of which (if they require any emphasis at all) are deeply engaging the consideration of the community at the present time. Meetings for the purpose of making bandages and a variety of other hospital requisites will henceforth be held at headquarters, 9 Kiukiang Road, on Tuesday afternoons from 2:30 to 6:30 p.m. The hours have been arranged with the especial object of providing as many members as may be the chance of looking in even for an hour, during the afternoon. The Social Service Board has given $100 in order to start the Hospital Aid Department with materials and further subscriptions may be sent to Mrs. Dorey, care of B. W. A.

The Week's Market Report

In their weekly report on the Shanghai Piece-Goods Trade, Messrs. Noel, Murray and Company write as follows:

Cotton.—A small amount of business has been possible occasionally, but there is a depressing feeling about amongst the dealers generally who are not disposed to commit themselves until the political situation is more decided. The strike in the South has now been going on for seven weeks and at present shows no signs of improvement. Since the re-opening of the market, one or two dealers have announced that they cannot carry on their business and they have joined the long line of victims of the piece goods trade.

Yarn.—The activity in the yarn department has been maintained and another long list of sales made appears this week, totalling 14,800 bales of Local Spinnings and 9,500 bales for retailing purposes. Of Indian Yarn 1,000 bales have been sold but the prices obtained are very far from satisfactory to the importers.

Auctions.—47,279 pieces were sold this week and the results on a plus and minus basis perhaps were not so bad, especially at the earlier sales, but today the proceedings dragged and lasted three hours. Grey Shirtings at all the sales were a strong feature and the Whites on the whole were better with a lot of fair improvements. The Bleached T-Cloths, Jeans and White Sheetings were weaker. Turkey Reds fared both ways according to the weights. Velvets also; the season for these goods is about over. Italians seem to have weakened more today and all through the better Venetians were none too strong.

ROSENFELD REPORT

Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows in their weekly cotton market report:

China Cotton.—The market has been active during the past week, showing a further advance of one tael. The reasons for the recent advance in China Cotton was in sympathy with the rise in Mid-Americans and Indians. Mills are now holding aloof owing to the fact that they have covered their requirements from America and India at comparatively cheaper prices.

From the foregoing, we cannot look for more than a steady market in the near future and would favor making purchases on declines.

Yarn.—The yarn market has been quite firm during the past week, prices advanced four to five taels from last week's level. Some 14,000 to 15,000 bales of local spinnings changed hands for export to Swatow, Canton, Tientsin, Fukien, Kiangse, Chefoo, Newchwang, Hankow and Anhwei. Over 3,000 bales direct booking with domestic mills is recorded at an advance of taels four to five from the last low level. Deliveries during the ten days have been very healthy and will continue to be so for some time to come. As to the future trend of the market, we cannot see how prices can decline owing to the interior marts being practically bare of stocks.

SPUNT AND COMPANY

In their report on the cotton market, Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows:

China Cotton:—While our market during the past week displayed no appreciable activity, prices rose to about Tls. 1.50 higher per picul than that ruling during the previous period, thus very forcibly pointing out the diminutive residue of stocks both here and in the interior marts and particularly so in the better grades.

The notable absence of any general demand on the part of spinners at this time serves to corroborate the assumption that they are fairly well stocked with supplies of the raw material for several months ahead, and during which time they apparently look forward to declines suitable for absorption and which probably may be realised, although the present statistical position would not warrant such expectations to any appreciable extent. Tone of the Market Firm.

LACE MARKET

Messrs. Industrial Export (China) Company write as follows in their lace market report:

Some enquiries and orders have been received for Filet Laces, and the market has advanced since our last report. Best quality Filet Laces are 1.8 per mesh. There is very little doing in Irish Crochet Laces, and prices are nominal. The market of Filet is expected to advance further.

HAIRNET MARKET

In their report on the Chefoo hairnet market, Messrs. Yannoulatos Bros. (China) write as follows:

Our Chefoo head-office reports under date of 18th inst. that: Owing to the considerable demand of Double Cap-Nets during this week and heavy operating on the part of some New York importers, the market has advanced.

The market of Single Cap-Nets is little easier but smaller supplies are arriving from the interior.

Regular supplies of the other Nets are available at the prices mentioned.

PONGEE MARKET

The China Merchants Pongee Association write as follows in their report on the pongee silk market of Chefoo:

Our Chefoo head-office reports under date of 18th inst that: The market has been slightly weaker during the past week, but stocks are still very light and no decline in prices is expected. Yokohama cables report the Japanese market as also being dull.
